Pastor's Corner

Dear Parishioners and Visitors,

As we approach the end of our Liturgical Year, our eyes turn toward the last Sundays, those in November, in which the dual themes of our Scripture Readings are sainthood and the coming of Christ at the end of the time, what we call eschatology. The word comes from the Greek "eschatos", meaning "last". Thus, eschatology is the study of the end of times. These last Sundays are bridge, if you will, into Advent, turning our eyes to Christ's coming.

The recurring themes in the Church's liturgy during the month of November invites us to draw closer to God and to reflect on the work God has done in us. The prayers and readings focus on death, judgment, hell, and purgatory with special attention on the Communion of Saints. As the Liturgical Year comes to a closing we as Catholics are called to consider our final days. We are called to meditate and pray for those who have gone before us.

Reflect, today, with a deep faith, upon this glorious and definitive moment in time still to come. On that day, all that will matter is how faithful you have been to the will of God. Your charity will become an open book for all to see, and the rewards for your charity will remain with you forever. As you think about that day with faith, allow it to encourage you to do all you can today to prepare for the Last Judgment. When that day comes, it will be too late to change. Get ready today and tomorrow and every day of your life so that when Jesus does return in all His glory, it will be the most glorious day of your life.

Viva Cristo Rey!
